Dear Valued Customers,

In this uncertain economy, we are all concerned about the financial health of not only our own companies, but that of our customers and suppliers as well. We would like to take a few moments to review Mack's current position and our on-going efforts to provide you with valuable manufacturing options in these difficult times.

First and foremost, Mack Molding continues to be debt-free and financially strong, with cash reserves and our D&B rating intact. What this means for you is that we can and will continue to order in economic ordering quantities, buy in bulk and take advantage of any purchasing opportunities that may arise. We can and will continue to carry sufficient inventories of raw material, purchased components and finished goods within the scope of open purchase order commitments. This will ensure not only your continuity of supply, but also short lead-times and schedule flexibility. We can and will continue to extend credit to our credit-worthy customers so you can manage your cash flow in an orderly and predictable manner. In short, Mack Molding will be here to support your manufacturing needs, now and in the future.

We have asked our Purchasing Directors to carefully monitor our supply bases and quickly develop alternate sources of supply where necessary. Our number one priority is to maintain your pipeline of products. We have seen force majeure and allocations in the resin marketplace. We have seen outright business failures in the component marketplace. And the manufacturing sector, due to its traditional large capital requirements and high debt ratio, is under more financial stress than ever with the current credit crisis. We are watching this carefully.

In conclusion, Mack Molding is uniquely positioned to continue to provide you with the manufacturing services you have come to expect over the years. We continue to grow, and to make investments in people, equipment and technologies that will collectively keep our companies moving forward together. If you have any questions, or if Mack can be of any additional help to your company, please don't hesitate to contact your Account Manager or one of us.
